PRINTING RECOMMENDATIONS:

If this paper is printed with an ink limit that is too high, then fractures may occur which would manifest as white lines when the paper is folded. Heavy ink loads would also result in much longer drying times, which could cause problems when printing roll to roll.

Note: Be aware that paper is sensitive to heat and humidity and it will tend, therefore, to show buckling much faster than some other types of media. Buckling may occur when the material is left to sit on the heater plate without printing. In such cases, before printing is resumed, please perform a media feed in order to move the potential buckles away from the danger zone, thereby avoiding printhead strikes.
